CLOSING SCENES IN THE HOUSE. IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 .- Probably never before in the history of the American Congress did the last day of a session find the House of Representatives in such a state of collapse as it was this morning. Of the 800 Representatives and Delegates, two-thirds had left the Capital for their homes, and those who remained were anxious to follow their example. As the hour of meeting drew near, a few members stroiled into the hall in a languid, spiritless manner; and when the House was called to order exactly thirty-six were in their seats. Afterward more dropped in from time to time until, when and received the Executive approval, while one-the the Speaker rose to declare the House adjourned River and Harbor bill—was passed over the President's sine die, about one hundred were present. members made feeble attempts to obtain unanimous consent to pass their pet bills.

Mr. Hiscock moved a recess for one hour. After that the action of the Senate upon the adjournment resolution was officially made known. Again some faint symptoms of a desire to pass more bills showed themselves. A recess was taken until a quarter of an hour before 3 o'clock, the time fixed for final adjournment. After the House reassembled Mr. Horr obtained the floor and moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill to amend the River and Harbor act. The vote stood 52 to 12-82 short of a quorum. The galleries were never before so empty on the last day of a session. In a few well chosen werds the Speaker al luded to the important events of the session, thanked the Representatives and wished them a pleasant journey to their homes and a safe return to their duties next winter. As he declared the House adjourned a lusty cheer went up from both sides, and found a hearty echo in the galleries. It was about the first, as it was certainly the most heartfelt, expression of satisfaction that has been heartful to the House in the last fortnight at least. to obtain unanimous consent to pass their pet bills.

ATTEMPT TO PASS TWO PENSION BILLS. (BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

Washington, Aug. 8 .- The only noteworthy egistative features of the day's session of the Senate were the attempts to press a hasty vote on pension measures which involved far-reaching general principles, and which if carried might have been the precursors of sweeping measures of the proportions of the Pensions Arrears act. Senator Voornees made the first movement, in seeking to get action upon the bili granting an increase of pensions to one-armed and one-legged soldiers. This is the measure to which Senator Platt referred in an interview published a few days go in The Tribune and which he said was likely to call for the ultimate outlay of many more millions than were for the ultimate outlay of many more millions than were covered by the immediate estimates. Senator Platt pluckily interposed his objection and was deaf to all entreaties to withdraw it.

The next attempt was to bring up and pass a private bill, which a majority of the Pensions Committee had reported unfavoracity against. Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania, was the mover, and Senator Built to be define Supporter, of the measure. It was a bill to pension the invalid daughter of a deceased Army officer. As a child thus daughter had received a pension until she had attained the non-pensionable age, since which time twelve years had clapsed. She now appeared with mo other claim than her father's services and her own necessities. Mr. Platt again made an objection, stating that it was the first case of the kind, and would be a precedent for pensioning the grown children of hundreds of thousands of soldiers. Senator Hawiey made a stirring appeal to Senators to hesitate in this work and reflect that this was the probable forenamer of another Arrears bill. He said he mas been a soldier, and spoke with the sympathies of a soldier, and in the name of soldiers he protested against this expenditure of money for which soldiers and soldiers' widows and descendants must be taxed. Senator Groom and Senator Logan also spoke strongly against it. The matter was allowed to drop.

THE WHISKEY BILL INVESTIGATION.

Washington, Aug. 8 .- Mr. Windom presented to the Senate to-day the report of the Select Comdittee to investigate the alleged improper use of money to promote or defeat the "Bonded Spirits" bill. Th report says that it was proven that the Kentucky Distillers Association had agreed to pay Colonel G. C. Wharton, an attorney of Louisville, $5,000 for his services in connection with the passage of the Bonded Ex-tension bill, and that $4,000 had been paid him on account. The evidence showed that Colonel Wharton prepared the bill, and made arguments before the Committee of the House of Expresentatives, but did not show that anything was done by nim inconsistent with the character of an honorable attorney. It was not proven that any money was corruptly employed. In the process of the investigation imputations were cast on certain very reputable journalists by 3r. A. C. Buell, which the committee found were wholly unsustained by the evidence.

AMERICAN SHIPPING INTERESTS.

Washington, Aug. 8.—The joint select committee appointed to-day in compliance with the request of a large number of gentlemen interested in American shipping whose memorial was recently preented to the House by Representative Belmont of New-York, consists of Messrs. Page of California, Candler of lassachusetts, Robeson of New-Jersey, Dingley of Maine, Melane of Maryland, and Cox of New-York, on the part of the House, and Messrs. Miller of New-York. Conger of Michigan, and Vest of Missouri, on the part of Conger of Alengal, and Case of the committee is to inquire into the cause of the decline of American shipping, with a view to the cuastment of laws during the next session which will enable the America merchant marine to compete with that of foreign countries. The committee will probably organize in New-York within the next two weeks.

REPORT ON APPRAISER HOWARD.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Secretary Folger has received the report of Special Agent Brackett on the case of James Q. Howard, Appraiser of Merchandise for the Port of New-York. Brackett reports that the charges that Appraiser Howard had wilfully violated Civil Service rules and regulations governing appointcivil service raises and regulations governing appointments and promotions in the Appraiser's Office, in selecting favorities for appointment regardless of the Civil Service rules, were sustained by the testimony and that the charge of using abusive language to O. Beirnein calling him "a blatherskite and lobbyist of oug standing in Washington," was also sustained.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF. Washington, Aug. 8 .- In the Senate to-day Messrs. Miller, o' New-York, Conger and Vest were ap pointed on the Joint Select Committee on the Revival of Shipping, and Messrs. Allison, Dawes and Davis, of West Virginia, were appointed on the Joint Select Committee to regulate the occupancy of the new State, Wat and Navy Departments Building. The bill to transfer the property of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home to the Garfield Memorial Hospital; the House Joint resolution to provide for preparing the reports of contested election cases in the XLVth Congress, and the contested election cases in the XLVth Congress, and the Senate ball to pay extra prices for extra work in emergencies in the Government printing office, were passed. In the House Mr. How, of Michican, from the Committee on Commerce, offered and asked present consideration of a joint resolution to correct an error in the Evert and Harbor Appropriations bill, so that the appropriations made for the Kentucky River might be in mediately available. Objection was made, and the resolution was withdrawn. Mesars, Page, of California, Candler, Robeson, Dlugley, McLane and Cox, of New-York, were appointed on the Joint Select Committee on American Shipping.

ROWING ON THE HARLEM RIVER. The eighth annual regatta of the Non pareil

Rowing Club took place on the Harlem River yesterday afternoon. A stiff southeasterly breeze rendered the water choppy, but both wind and tide were in favor of the crews. All the races were a mile straight-away, beginning at a point just west of the Fourth Avenue Bridge. The first race, for junior single scalls, was not started until 3 o'clock. There were two entries. A. A. Mohr won in 6 minutes 45 seconds. There were two ontestants in the race for sentor single soulls. William Mulcan, the winner of the race last year, swamped his beat near the finish, and Michael Carroll rowed over the line in 6 minutes 15 seconds. In the junior pair-cared gig race there were three entries. The winning crew was composed of F. Sahuika, bow; H. Jackson, stroke, and F. Simpson, coxswain. The time was 6 minutes 8 seconds. In the contest for the senior pair-cared gigs, the winning crew crossed the line at the linish in 6 minutes. It was composed of Thomas Wade, bow; M. Wilson, stroke, and F. Simpson, coxswain. The race for four-cared gigs was warmly contested for three-fourths of the coarse by two crews. A jumped seat in one of the boats gave the other a decided advantage, and the finish was easily reached in 6 minutes 2 seconds by the crew made up of Charles Edwards, bow; W. H. Ryan, H. Kruegar, H. Cordinan, stroke, and P. J. Scannell, coxswain. In the six-cared gig race there were three entries. It was won in 5 minutes 40 seconds, by the following crew: F. W. Shiller, bow; E. M. Swift, F. Sanuise, B. Jackson, O. M. Wilson, T. Wade, stroke, and F. Simpson, coxswain. Mulcan, the winner of the race last year, swamped his

THE COURTS

CURIOUS MARITAL COMPLICATIONS. THE COMPLAINT IN THE PELLOWS DIVORCE SUIT

An order was entered in the Supreme Court, Special Term, yesterday, by Justice Donohue in the divorce suit of Phoebe Fellows against Richard C. Fellows. which indicates that an end has finally been put to the litigation which grew out of the curious marital compli-cations of this couple. Mr. Feliows, who is a lawyer, narried Mrs. Phobe Robinson in this city on February 28, 1878. In a suit which he began in the Court of Comnon Pleas about two years ago, he claimed that when he married her he supposed that she was a widow. Afterward he discovered that instead of a widow she was a divorced woman, and that the decree divorcing her from West-more R. Robertson had not been entered until four days after her marriage to him. Thereupon, believing that she had deceived him, he ceased living with her. A bort time after this Westmore R. Robertson, who had been absent in the far West during the suit against him for divorce, returned to the city and moved to set aside the decree, and that an opportunity be given to him to defend himself, alleging that he had not been properly served and that he was innocent the decree, and that an opportunity be given to him to defend himself, alleging that he had not been properly served and that he was innocent of the wrong-doing alleged against him-Both motions were granted in the Special Term, and the proper order was altimed in the General Term in February, 1880. Thereupon Mr. Fellows began an action in the Supreme Court, in which he prayed for an annulment of the marriage with Phebe Robertson.

In the answer flied by the defendant in that case she denied that sue had decived Mr. Fellows, and asserted that he knew all about her and her affairs when he married her. She, however, had been deceived, for she had honestly believed that she was divorced from her former husband as soon as the roteree in the case had reported in her favor. Afterward, discovering her error, she had insisted upon being remarried to Mr. Fellows and it was unnecessary and gave her a dinner-party, at which he introduced her as his wife. She further asserted that the Court had been deceived, when it set aside the decree of divorce from Robertson, for the proceedings which ended in this result had been instigated by Mr. Fellows. Robertson, it was said, had died soddenly in June, 1880. Mr. Fellows repited to this attack by moving that substantially all of these alegations be stricken from the answer, Mrs. Fellows then asked leave to file a supplemental answer, in which she wished to set forth that after Robertson's death Fellows had married her again and introduced her at Newport as his wife, and they had afterward lived together in Fifthave, and at the Rossmore Hotel. He promised, turtaer, to drop the sait for the annulment of the marriage. Whine at the Rossmore Hotel he unred her to take a trip to Europe. This she consented to do, but she refused to sign a paper which he handed her and which, after sae had destroyed it, she learned had been a release of all her claims on him. She went to Europe, but in England heard that the annulment sait was being pressed to a determination, and returned here to defend h

YOUNG DR. TYNGS STOCK SPECULATIONS

Proceedings had in the Supreme Court last March, and again yesterday, brought to light the fact that the Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, jr., formerly the rector of the Church of the Hoty Trinity, in Madison-ave., and now the agent of the Equitable Life Infarance Society in Paris, before the termination of his pastorate engaged in stock speculations. His ventures in Wali Street had an unhappy termination, however. Not only did they involve him in a dispute with his partner, out of which issued the civil action which now gives the facts to the public, but his prokers also went to the wall (though perhaps not because of his dealings, and from their books, now in the hands of the assignee, C. Godfrey Pat-terson, and a document presented in court yesterday, the curious can learn, if versed in the mysteries of stock brokers' bookkeeping, now shrewd (or other wise) were the reverend gentleman's guesses in the market. The action which brought these disclosures was begun last fall and the summons was served on the eve of the Rev. Mr. Tyng's departure for his new field of labor. The plaintiff is Edward L. Owen, between whom and the defendant there existed a partnership for dealings in railroad stocks and securities from January, 1880, to October of the same year. The amount claimed at first was $5,055 99 as a balance due on a statement of account for money advanced and a note aid. For some time before the beginning of paid. For some time before the beginning of the action carnest efforts were made by both men and their lawyers—General fremain for the Rev. D. Tyan, p., and Jonis C. Lewis for Mr. Owen—to settle the dispute without bringing it into court. Publicity was beared and the proceedings since the action was begun were kept a secret unit, pesterday.

Thus far the defence have not shown their hand, though in an affidavi made by General Tremain it is channel that the Rev. Dr. Tyan, jr., furnished money to the partnership for which of Davien as not accounted to him. Last march General Tremain accounted to him. Last march General Tremain accounted to him. Last march General Tremain accounted to him to the partnership for which of partnerships in order that his cheff in the partnership to the partnership to the partnership to the partnership for which a possible lawrence, on a motion made in the Supreme Court, Casanbers, Yesterday the offendant ranged an objection to the bill of partnership field, on the ground that it did not comply with in order of the Court requiring the blantif to fara motion index in the ground that it and not comply partentiars filed, on the ground that it and not comply with the order of the Court requiring the plantiff to furnish the detendant with the dates and particulars of the transactions occased that the dates and particulars of the prices of purchase and sale and offsets claimed. Anti-Lewis claimed that his client had done all be could in the premises; and put down the items as admitted by the Lev. Dr. Tying, Jr., in a letter to him, and had appended an abstract from the books of Lewin & Osborne covering all the joint transactions. From this abstract it appeared that the Tying's name hever appeared on the stock brokers' books. One of the accounts was with "E. L. Owen, G. G. Rockwood and another." Justice Donohue, who heard the arguments on the motion to require a new bill of particulars, took the matter under advisement.

FAILURE OF THE ENGLISH CROPS.

From The London Telegraph, July 27.

There has not been a really good harvest in this country for seven or perhaps egal years, nor is it possible to ignore the fact that the gravest apprehensions prevail list "the fruits of the earth in die season," should be denied to us once more during the present year. An extraordinarily mild whiter, to lowed by a spring so early and warm that the monta of April seemed to have taken the place ordinarily liked by June, or even by July, encouraged hopes as widespread as they were welcome that an end was about to be put to the long and trying agony through which our farmers have struggled as beet they might, except in those cases where the pressure upon their powers or resistance was more than they could bear. Before April had come to a close, however, it was leared that the encerthiness which reigned in agricultural circles was, to say the least, premature. During the last hours of the fourth month a coid blight, charged in many phaces with saline particles, overspread the whole of England, and especially the southern counties, withering the foliage and temporarily drying up every green thing in the land. An ungenial May supervened, and it was followed by a dripping June. The weat was surveiled in the ear; the grass clearly gave tokens that it lacased warmth; the fruit and nop crops promised to be eather failures; the roots were choked with weeds, which no amount of foeing and circaring conflicting particles of the many places, and especially in storm-toseed freiand, were threatened with lot. Next came a hay harvest so interrupted by perpetual showers and cold might that portion of it which was brought to stack be regarded as in anything like a satisfactory condition. Often before during this century have there been three or four bad harvess in succession, but no such unbroken series of unfavorable seasons has been known as that prevailing in this country since 1876. If for the sevenia successive year the agranditurists are again doomed to see f a hopeful sign that yesterday the wind changed and the barometer rose. A warm, sthi and dry August may even how "not unbeseem the promise of the spring"; but we fear that, even under the most favorance creamstances, the harvest of 1882 will fail far below a good average,

THE SARATOGA MONUMENT.

SARATOGA, Aug. 8 .- The annual meeting of the trustees of the Saratoga Monument Association was held to-day, J. M. Marvin presiding. Mrs. Walworth, from the Monmouth Committee, reported that several prominent points on the battlefield had been located, prominent points on the battenend had been located, and suitable tablets secured to mark them. The contractor reported the progress of the work. The monument is now forty-five teet high and much carved work is ready to be put in place.
